NIGHT FIRE SWEEPS HURON ST. BUILDING

That's $25. An Hour Protests Councillor

Mayor and Council Frown
On Building Exemption
Plan

On motion of Councillors F. H. Robinson and George E. Williams, the Newmarket fire brigade was voted its annual grant of $600, to be paid by Dec. 16, at a meeting of the town council on Monday evening.

Joseph Brammar, fire inspector, was praised for efficient work during the past year by members of the council. Mr. Brammar reported that premises were being kept in safer condition.

Proctor Redfern and Co. charged $150 for the report on water sources outside the town, according to a letter from the town engineers, in explanation of an account of $340 before the council at its previous meeting.

"Why that's $25 an hour," said Councillor George Williams. "If you want services of this kind you have to pay for them," said Dr. Boyd.

"It's economically unsound," declared Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd when Councillor George Williams moved that "a bylaw be introduced to provide for total exemption from assessment of all new dwelling-houses during the year in which same are erected."

"You are bonusing the building of new houses while existing houses cannot be sold for their replacement cost," said the mayor.

"How would you like it, if you had a house to sell, to see someone else put up a tax-free house next door?" asked the mayor. "You would encourage building at the expense of the taxpayers," said Mr. Williams.

The resolution was defeated. Immediate replacement of street lights on College St. was moved by Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales. "They were out a month ago," said Dr. Dales.

"The youngsters put the lights out as fast as we can put them in," said Councillor W. W. Osborne.

"Well, then there should be penalties," said Dr. Dales. "They are pretty hard to get," said Mr. Osborne. "You would have to be running around all the time to keep the lights all in."

"Well, you look after it," said Dr. Dales, withdrawing his motion.

A motion by Dr. Dales forbidding children to skate on the street until the ice is safe, was passed by the council.

Signs will be erected and the constables will be instructed to enforce this ruling.

"I often think it would be a good idea to give a lot, and then we would have the taxes," said the mayor, Dr. S. J. Boyd, commenting on a recommendation of the public works committee that a minimum price of $80 be set on town lots.

A letter from the Theatre Holding Corporation said that the company had decided against having the light pole moved now in front of its premises, the Palace theatre.

Councillor W. W. Osborne advised the clerk to bill the company to be erected. The council advised the clerk to bill the company for this work.

BOYS HONORED WITH SUPPER

Certificates Presented To Members Of R. S. A.
Band

Certificates indicating present or past membership in the R.S.A. Bugle Band were presented to over 60 young men at the band's annual supper in the band hall last Thursday evening.

The certificates bore a record of the many achievements of the band in its first five years, 1932 to 1937.

"The town is proud of you," Dr. C. E. Vandervoort, the chairman, told the band boys.

Wm. E. Andrews led and Wm. White accompanied on the piano group singing.

"I wish to congratulate you on your conduct at home and away from home," said Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd. "The town is proud of you for your conduct and also for your musical ability. Great credit is due the organizers, Mr. J. A. Little and Mr. Andrews, who are a great privilege to do something during your lifetime that will live after you."

Jack Arlitt gave two beautiful cornet solos.

J. A. Little and Dr. Boyd presented the certificates. Mr. Little telling the boys: "No matter how proficient you get there is always room at the top. We had an example of that tonight in our cornet soloist. It has taken him many years and years and hours and hours of hard work, and we are proud of him."

James Bradford, Jr., Toronto, solo of the band's instructor, gave a drum solo. Young Bradford is said to be the best qualified drummer of his age in Canada.

"We look to the mayor to present to the council their responsibility to this and other similar organizations," said Mr. Little. "We in Newmarket are not so much concerned with the tax rate. At the nomination meeting I suggested an extra mill. I had in mind an extra grant to the Bugle Band, to the Citizens' Band and extra money on the sidewalks."

"This is the annual gathering of the most enterprising organization in Newmarket," said H. M. Gilmartin in a short address. "You have only to look at this building and think what it was to realize that. This band started only five years ago, with borrowed equipment. Now they have 50 active members and have a horde clamoring to get in. Their instruments are second to none in the province."

"The town wouldn't be quite the same without the R.S.A. Bugle Band on the streets," said Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales.

Following the presentation of certificates, Albert Lindenberg, Ralph Adams and Alfred Harden spoke on behalf of the band.

Roy Rhinehart, Frank Smith and Wm. E. Andrews each spoke briefly.

E. J. Davis, Aubrey Davis, J. O. Little, E. H. Adams, Edgar Bogart and John Hallam were made honorary members of the band.

"Edgar Bogart is one of the outstanding citizens of this town," said Mr. Rhinehart. "We have never done anything without his help."

The boys presented with certificates were: Ralph Adams, Bruce Andrews, Donald Blair, Elmer Blair, Gerald Blight, Bruce Bowdoin, Elmer Brown, Howard Brown, Howard Eakins, Herbert Foster, Ernest Fairley, Walter Groves.

Clifford Gunn, William Hadfield, Alfred Harden, Jack Harman, Melbourne Haines, Lyman Hencock, Frederick Lusted, Morley Gilkes, Albert Lindenberg, Howard McClymont, Percy Myers, George Myers, Bruce Mortimer.

In addition to a long list of talented amateurs, the club has obtained the services of Jackie McCrae, Toronto, wonder boy xylophonist, late of Billie Nelson's orchestra. Entrants include singers, instrumentalists, dancers, and acrobats, so that those attending are assured of a wide variety of entertainment.

Christmas Market Planned Agree To Ignore By-Law

Council Votes $25 For Prizes For Market On Dec. 22

"For the good of the market I'd like to see the by-law rescinded," said T. F. Doyle, general merchant, before the town council Monday evening, referring to the by-law which prevents the "buyers" from buying before 9 a.m.

"The buyers went so far as to say that they wouldn't come to the market if the by-law were enforced," said Mr. Doyle. "Without the buyers there would be no market. The town people couldn't buy all the produce."

"I know it would be better for us merchants if these things were sold through the stores, but that can't be helped."

"The buyers aren't going to take the culls after the town people have taken the best produce. Anyone who wants to get a chicken can arrange a week ahead with someone to bring one in. I can give names of farmers who will bring in produce."

W. C. Lundy, dry goods merchant, expressed agreement with Mr. Doyle.

The council recently gave instructions that the by-law should be enforced. As the result of objections on the part of Main St. business men, Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales said that he had taken it on himself to cancel these instructions.

The council agreed not to enforce the by-law.

The council voted $25 for prizes for a special Christmas market on Wednesday, Dec. 22, on the request of Mr. Doyle.

MRS. M. WALLACE SPEAKS ON PALESTINE

At the Friends Church on Monday evening, Mrs. Malcolm Wallace of Toronto entertained her audience with a lecture and slides on Palestine. Mrs. Wallace was a recent visitor to that country. There was a large attendance and most of the young people's societies in town were represented. Mrs. Sharran, contralto, rendered several selections and Mrs. Rumble accompanied her. Gerald Rutledge played a piano solo in his usual charming manner. The evening's entertainment was under the auspices of the Christian Endeavour.

DR. BOULDING
SINGS SUNDAY

Dr. C. R. Boulding, Aurora's popular mayor, has kindly accepted an invitation to sing a group of tenor solos at Sunday evening's band concert in the town hall. The versatile doctor, whose fine tenor voice won him major awards at York county's last musical festival, is also a keen booster of the band movement.

The program by the band will be one of the most pleasing ever presented by this organization and includes Light Cavalry Overture, a very tuneful section from Balfe's Bohemian Girl, also Fiesta Overture, which was the test piece used at the C.N.E.

A fund has been opened by the band to decorate the stage of the town hall. Collection plates will be placed at the exits to give all an opportunity who feel they can contribute to this worthy enterprise. It is hoped that through this medium enough will be raised at the winter concerts to buy a new back-drop curtain

WHAT'S SANTA BRINGING YOU

Lots Of Joy Will Be Lot
Of Those Who Help
Old Fellow Out

"What is Santa Claus going to bring you?"

This question may be heard wherever children are found. Parents who are in a position to know that the result of the annual visit from Santa will be satisfactory put this question to their children banteringly. Children who gain confident knowledge in this way that Santa is going to remember them put the same question to other children who are perhaps less fortunate than themselves.

Then home they go, these other children, and say: "Mother, Daddy, what do you think Santa Claus will bring me?" Too often the answer is: "I don't know if Santa Claus will come this year. I hear that the roads are bad in Reindeerland."

This can be a cruel question, a cruel question to parents who cannot answer it confidently, a cruel question to children who already have an inkling from their parents that Santa Claus will not be coming.

But your answer is that he will be coming, coming to every home in Newmarket, though his parcels be ever so small. Your answer is that Santa Claus is going to take armloads of joy into every Newmarket home where children play. Through the Lions Christmas Stocking Fund you can help Santa Claus.

Helping Santa Claus help the youngsters will bring you joy. That is the answer to the question: "What is Santa Claus going to bring you?"

Huron St. Structure Almost Demolished

Fire of Unknown Origin Guts Garage And Apartments

The worst fire since the nearby flour mill blaze last summer, the building occupied by Danforth Auto Wreckers on Huron St. was gutted by fire last Thursday evening.

Damage amounted to a considerable figure. Anthony Phillips, proprietor of Danforth Wreckers, put his loss at $5,000, against which there was $2,000 insurance. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Turan, living in the front upstairs apartment, lost all their household effects, including a chesterfield suite and a radio. Damage to the building, owned by Stanley Jones, was estimated at $2,500, fully covered.

Mr. Phillips was sitting in his office at 9.15 p.m. Thursday, he stated, when he noticed a puff of smoke come out of the floor five or six feet from him. He ran outside and met Mr. Turan, who had seen smoke coming up behind the chesterfield in his apartment at about the same time.

Mr. and Mrs. Turan and their children got out of the building at once but lost practically everything. Mrs. Turan passed the alarm to Mrs. Douglas May, who, with her young child was in the back apartment. Mrs. May lost most of her clothes but neighbors were able to get most of her belongings out on to a shed roof and thence to safety.

The fire brigade answered a call put in from Main and Huron Sts. The building was in flames when the truck arrived a few minutes after the fire was discovered. Fire Chief W. W. Osborne arrived with the truck, driven by Cyrus Curtis. Witnesses remarked on the smooth and speedy way in which the hose was coupled up and turned on the blaze.

The fire blew out or cracked the large shop windows at the front. The gasoline tanks had been empty for six weeks previous.

Two streams of water, with Joseph Brammar in charge of one company and James Thompson in charge of the other, were used at first. Several times it seemed as though the fire was under control, but each time it broke out again. Double air spaces in the outside walls carried persistently the fire to new points.

At midnight a third stream of water was put on the fire and it was not until after 2 a.m. that the blaze was under control.

The fire broke out again in the roof on Friday night. Although no alarm was rung in, a couple of the firemen took the truck down and extinguished the blaze.

A representative of the provincial fire marshal was here and made a thorough investigation of the fire. Mr. Phillips said that he had been burning wood until a couple of days before the fire and that he had then started using coal. He thought that the fire had started from the combustion of gases from the coal in the furnace, he said.

ATTEND BANQUET

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wilmot of Sharon travelled to Woodstock to attend a banquet on Friday evening in honor of P. M. Dewan, new Ontario minister of agriculture.

Whitchurch Calf Has Two Buffalo Heads, Stillborn

Cow Brought Here From North Bears Siamese
Calf Head

A two-headed calf was born dead at the farm of Edgar Rose, fourth concession, Whitchurch, last Wednesday. The calf was a month premature.

The calf had two heads on a single neck and body. The heads resembled strongly buffalo heads. The back was humped like a buffalo's and the hind quarters were comparatively light.

J. R. Lockhart, Newmarket veterinarian, expressed the opinion that the calf had been sired by a buffalo. The cow was brought here from northern Ontario and was in calf at the time.

wished we could rebate the amount later," said Councillor Wm. Dixon.

"Is there a by-law?" asked Mr. Bowser.

"No," said N. L. Mathews, K.C. "The regulation is that town organizations shall pay $15 a night and out-of-town organizations $20 a night."

Mr. Bowser was given to understand that the council would make a grant of the amount of the rent.

Later, on motion of Councillor W.W. Osborne, the club was voted $15.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union will not meet until January.

LOCAL BOY WILL SPEAK ON RADIO

Harry Rumble, young farmer from near King, will speak on Rex Frost's broadcast over CFRB at 12.55 p.m. Friday, Dec. 10. His address will be a summary of one he gave in the public speaking contest of the United Farm Young People of Ontario in Toronto two weeks ago.

While two of the three judges chose another speaker in preference to the York entry, Harry's address received much praise. For some time he has been actively associated with the study groups sponsored by Pickering College and in this way has developed the vision which he will present in a word picture of King as a co-operative community fifteen years hence.

Five stitches were required in Barbara's cheek and a piece was taken out of her lip.

She was taken to York County hospital where she was treated by Drs. J. C. R. Edwards and J. G. Cook.

Barbara, with two other companions had been drawn by the dog for a sleigh ride. Afterwards Barbara started to pat the dog and he turned on her.

W.A. MAKE PRESENTATION TO MRS. WELLS, MRS. CANE

On Dec. 2, the W.A. of Trinity United church held their regular meeting with the president, Mrs. George Russell, in the chair. Mrs. B. Hewitt took charge of the devotional exercises, the topic being, Mary, the mother of Jesus.

Mrs. Hewitt said that Mary was one of the strongest characters in history. Mary was fortified by the angels' announcement and she had peace and resourcefulness. Prayer was offered by Mrs. J. H. Wells.

Mrs. Leonard Little accompanied by Mrs. Bailey sang a lovely solo, "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer."

The secretaries of the different committees gave reports of the year, showing very encouraging progress. The question of a brass tablet to preserve the names of those who served in the Great War came up for discussion but was held over for further consideration. Mrs. W. J. Thompson, convener of the nominating committee gave her report, giving the list of officers for the year 1938. Installation will take place in January, when a complete report will be given.

The president read an address and a presentation was made by the secretary to two departing members, Mrs. J. H. Wells and Mrs. Howard Cane. The Women's Association regret the removal of these active workers from the society. Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Cane expressed their thanks in their usual charming manner, after which a social time was spent and a cup of tea served.

CHRISTMAS GIVING

This cold weather should stimulate giving to the Lions Christmas Stocking Fund. It is difficult for us to realize how great the need is of many people right within our town. We can believe that there is hardship and privation in a nearby city, but we find it hard to realize that some of our fellow townsmen are hard up against it and many of them with too much pride to broadcast their needs. There are people actually hiding the sufferings of themselves and their children. They need medical and dental care they can't afford; they need more variety of food for health; they need more milk than they can purchase, even if they are receiving full relief allowance; they need better clothing, both to keep them warm and to maintain their self-respect. In short, they need your help. You cannot do a great deal for them through the good offices of Santa Claus, because Santa Claus has so many people in this town to look after, and what you give him will be spread out among all the most needy children, but you cannot afford to overlook this opportunity to do a little, in an acceptable way, for less fortunate friends, neighbors and fellow townsmen. And we hope that your interest, engendered through Christmas giving, may lead you to contribute in some way during the approaching year to the solution of the economic and social problems which leave people, through no fault of their own, dependent on the generosity of others.

A NEWSPAPER ELECTION

In the city the newspapers have been holding another election. The Star nominated Mr. Robbins for mayor and the Telegram and the Globe and Mail nominated Mr. Day. Mr. Day won the day. The three newspapers agreed on the board of control. Nevertheless, Tim Buck, Communist, missed election by only a slender margin.

STICKING TO IT

Mr. Hepburn was quite right in declining Mr. Macaulay's offer to serve on a non-partisan committee to study the question of retaining government house. There was no chance of Mr. Macaulay agreeing with the government in its determination to dispense with Chorley Park as a residence for the lieutenant-governor, and it would have been a poor way for Mr. Hepburn to retire from the position he has taken. As he said, to do away with government house was a pre-election promise, and it was up to him to carry it out. Of course, if he thought himself to have been mistaken, it would be up to him to admit it and change his mind, but to let a committee change his mind for him would be merely to damage further whatever confidence the public has in election promises. Mr. Macaulay asked the premier if he had changed his mind about a promise not to enter into any contract with Beauchamp, but Mr. Hepburn had no answer. As far as Chorley Park is concerned, our guess is that the public will be pretty well satisfied with the new arrangement. Those of our readers who are accustomed to being entertained at government house will find that the lieutenant-governor has very nice quarters at Queen's Park. Mr. Hepburn said that Chorley Park had cost the public $123,500 a year.

DOMINION-PROVINCIAL RELATIONS

Premier Bracken of Manitoba told the dominion-provincial relations commission last week that there must be a choice among cutting the interest rate on Manitoba bonds, suspending payment entirely or a reallocation of revenues and responsibilities of the dominion and provincial governments. Unlike some provincial premiers, Mr. Bracken would like to see the legislative field of the dominion government increased at the expense of the provincial governments. We think progress lies in that direction but it is a mighty broad-minded provincial government that sees it as Mr. Bracken does.

THE BIG APPLE

In case you didn't know it, that was a demonstration of the new dance, "The Big Apple," that you saw, or would have seen if you had been there, at the high school alumni dance last Friday evening. The theme of the dance is said to be the imitation of a negro woman pushing a wheelbarrow. It comes to us from the Harlem jungle, and may be said to be more interesting than the fox-trot, but lacking the grace of the old square dances. We wouldn't want to explain this dance to you, but we gathered on Friday evening that it was very comprehensive. In fact, we were told that it included "the Susie Q" and most everything else. It's what they're doing at the university when they are not at a football game or maybe a lecture. If you don't do the Big Apple you might as well go home to your mother. You're out of things. There are times when the dancer and his partner solo down the dance floor, sometimes travelling side by side, sometimes one ten feet ahead of the other, amusing himself or herself with a shimmying sort of clog-dance. It is quite interesting to watch. We fancy it would be difficult to learn. At other times the dancers do a little bit of the old-time dances, shouting jungle calls instead of politely bowing to each other. Big as the Big Apple may be, we fancy it will have been consumed and forgotten before long. It will not affect the popularity of the classic square dances, but let us hope that it may serve to restore them, by emphasizing the shortcomings of our modern dances, to their old-time place on the dance program.

Part of the "Big Apple" is called "truckin'." We Canadians weren't going to have any "truck or trade with the Yankees" and now we accept this new dance from Harlem.

The beauty of winter has come to us again. Would we really, if we had the chance, choose to live in Florida or California, all the year round? Except for slippery highways and sidewalks, and icy windshields, winter is stimulating, invigorating, and lots of fun for the younger folks. Newmarket and district was beautiful under its cloak of new-fallen snow on Sunday evening.

SOMETHING FAMILIAR HERE

It is said that in Russia a general election is taking place, with only one candidate to vote for in most constituencies. There is a similar lack of choice in most Canadian electoral divisions. You can vote Liberal or you can vote Conservative but you get practically the same thing whichever way you vote. In Canada, however, there is this advantage that you don't have to vote either way. It seems that in Russia your failure to vote and give approval to the government is noted to your disfavor.

When Winter Comes To Town

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"I'm very well pleased with my winter home this year," Mr. Pecker, the Downy Woodpecker, told his friend, Chubby Nut-hatch. "It was perhaps a little more work drilling it out than usual, but I think it was worth it. It seems a lot of work making a home for the winter only, and just for myself at that, but of course Mrs. Pecker always insists on a new home for our nest in the spring."

"Did Mrs. Pecker drill a hole for herself for the winter, too?" asked Chubby.

"Oh no," was the reply. "The lady Woodpeckers never do that—they just winter in the abandoned holes of the male Woodpeckers. But, as I was saying—you should see my cosy little home. It's in a nice substantial limb and, of course, the entrance is on the under side and so it's practically impossible for wind and snow and sleet to reach me, when I'm in there."

"I hope Mrs. Pecker has as snug a place," said the Nut-hatch. "Oh, I don't worry about her," said Pecker. "She can look after herself all right. Of course I'm with her quite a bit, because the gang of us hang around so much together, but I don't see any place for sentimentality in the winter. She got quite a scare last week when that big dog found her stealing his dinner—ha, ha, ha."

"I heard a little more about that, which didn't reflect a great deal of credit on your chivalrous qualities," said Chubby darkly. "However, we won't go into that."

"Speaking of accidents," said Pecker, ignoring his friend's remark, "one of those pretty Red-polls was caught by a Northern Shrike yesterday afternoon. There are quite a little group of them over in the fields on the south side of Eagle St., feeding on the weeds, of course. They eat such a lot of them you know. They are feeling very badly about the loss of one of their little group. Those Shrikes are treacherous birds, aren't they?"

"They certainly are—the miserable grey butchers," agreed Chubby heartily. "Those Red-polls are such attractive birds, too, with their little crimson caps and their rosy breasts. They remind me a trifle of the Chickadees, although, of course, they are members of the sparrow family and have Sparrow characteristics, such as their short sharp bills and their streaked backs and sides."

"Of course, only the adult males have pink breasts, you know," Pecker put in.

"I quite realize that," answered Chubby. "You must think I am very ignorant if you don't give me credit for knowing that."

"Oh, I'm sure you know quite a bit," Pecker answered patronizingly. "Just as a test of your great knowledge, tell me who those birds wheeling over that snowy field over there are. They've just alighted on the ground now."

"Why, that's absurdly easy," cooed Chubby. "Who do we always expect to find sweeping about the country as soon as the real snowstorms start? Why, there's no other bird in the country that resembles those Snow Buntings. They're just like snowflakes. Now that they're on the ground I could scarcely see them if it weren't for the few black and dark markings that they still have left. They are at their whitest at this time of year. They're so much safer from the birds of prey when they're the same color as the snow like that. It's too bad that some more of the rest of us haven't got some protective coloration."

"I know someone else that's nice and white like the snow, in the wintertime, and darker in the summer," said Pecker.

"Who?" asked Chubby. "I can't think of the right answer this time."

"Why, our enemy, the Snowy Owl," Pecker told him. "He's got the advantage of being the same color as the snow, too, and I'll bet it's a terrific advantage to him when he's hunting for victims."

"Terrific advantage is right," agreed Chubby. "It doesn't seem fair that he should have protective coloration when it's his poor hapless victims that need the protection, not he."

"Quite a number of the birds and animals change in the winter so that they are able to endure the long cold winter," Pecker went on, determined to tell Chubby something he didn't know. "And I'll bet I can tell you one thing, for example, that you had no idea of."

"I doubt it, but carry on," said Chubby drily. "Well, it's this—and I just found this out myself two or three days ago, when I was talking to Mr. Partridge," Pecker said. "The Partridges grow little fringes of sharp points on their toes in the late fall, to help them move about on the surface of the snow. Mr. Partridge was showing me his new set for this winter and I must say that they make very nice little snowshoes."

"I'll admit I didn't know that," Chubby remarked, "and I'm glad to know it, too, and I don't begrudge the Partridges that bit of extra help in getting around in the winter, because they need it. They certainly have a hard time in the winter, what with being caught, not to mention their difficulties with the snow. Lots of them get frozen under the snow, if they go into a drift for shelter and then it melts and freezes again and they can't break through the crust to get out."

"What do you say, old chap," said Pecker, who was now in good humor again, because he had been able to tell Chubby something he didn't know, "if we each enjoy a good mouthful of before us—may it be a short and happy one."

"My sentiments exactly," said Chubby as he gulped down a generous mouthful.

POLICE COURT CARRIED TOOLS,
NO GUN, HE SAYS

The smallest police court held in Newmarket since the court opened last June was presided over by Magistrate L. J. C. Bull on Tuesday morning.

Alfred Blakely, who was charged with reckless driving on Nov. 22, by Provincial Constable Jack Munroe, was granted a remand for one week by Magistrate Bull.

Norman Pinder, who was charged with reckless driving resulting in an accident on Oct. 20, by Provincial Constable Ferguson, was given a further remand until next week. This case has been adjourned two or three times since the accident, and Pinder is to be notified again, and if he is not present next week a bench warrant is to be sworn out for him, stated Magistrate Bull.

Earl Cook pleaded not guilty to a charge of shooting pheasants in closed season. The charge was laid by Game Warden Frank Lyons of North Gwillimbury.

James Cooney, called by Mr. Lyons was the first witness to give evidence.

"Where do you live?" asked N. L. Mathews, K.C., for the crown.

"I live in Lemonville."

"What is your occupation?"

"I am a trucker."

"Do you know the accused?"

"Yes."

"How long have you known him?"

"A number of years."

"Did you see him on Nov. 25?"

"Mr. Tranner and myself were back in my pasture looking at some cattle and I saw Mr. Cook shooting pheasants."

"Are you absolutely sure that Cook was shooting pheasants?"

"I was four or five rods away."

"Could you recognize him?"

"Yes. After he had shot four or five times, about a dozen pheasants flew away. Then I saw him pick up a bird of some kind, but I could not recognize what kind of a bird it was, as I was quite a distance away. Later I saw some pheasant feathers where he was shooting."

"Have you seen him there on other occasions?"

"Yes."

Mr. Cook then questioned Mr. Cooney.

"Was there any undergrowth along the fence of the pasture?"

"No, I do not remember seeing it along the fence."

Walter Tranner was the second witness called by Lyons.

"Where do you live?"

"I live in Bloomington."

"What is your occupation?"

"I am a cattle dealer."

"Tell the judge what happened on Nov. 25."

"I was walking down the lane with Cooney taking a cow to pasture."

"What lane?"

"The lane running between the sixth and seventh concessions."

"I was about 15 or 20 rods from Cook. I heard the gun go off, and then about eight or ten pheasants flew up."

"How did you know it was Cook?"

"I did not see the man closely, but I recognized Cook's car which was a 1925 or 1926 Ford coupe."

"I saw Cook stoop and pick up a bird. Then he climbed over the fence and went toward the car, carrying a gun."

Mr. Cook then questioned Mr. Tranner to make sure that they were in the same field.

Earl Cook, Lemonville, the accused, gave his evidence.

"Were you on these premises on the day in question?" asked Mr. Mathews.

"No."

"I was with the hired man and my brother. We went back the lane to build a fence around a pasture that I had bought."

"Mr. Cooney is my next-door neighbor."

"I did not have a gun with me."

"Did you see any pheasants?"

"No, I did not see any but a lot of them live along the lane."

"Have you ever attempted to shoot any?"

"No."

"The fence we went to fix was north of the pasture in which I was supposed to be shooting. The growth along the fence was higher than my head."

Herbert Hood, Cook's hired man, testified that he knew both Cooney and Tranner. He stated that he was with Cook on Nov. 25 and that they went to build a fence.

He carried a crow-bar and a saw, while Cook carried an axe and wire pinchers, but there was not a gun with the party. He didn't see either of the other witnesses, nor did he hear a gun go off. He saw only one pheasant fly out.

Harold Cook, brother of the accused, stated that he went back with his brother and Hood to the fence. He didn't carry any tools. He had a spare day, so he went to help out his brother. He also stated that he had a gun, and that he had not seen anyone around, although he had heard shooting in the afternoon. He testified that because of the growth along the fence the witnesses couldn't have seen them.

Game Warden Lyons testified that there was no growth or brush around the fence, and that the fence was north of the pasture. Mr. Lyons stated that the fence ran east and west.

Mr. Cook then said that Mr. Cooney had said that the fence ran north and south.

Mr. Mathews stated that he thought there must be two different fences in question.

"The case is dismissed," said the magistrate.

"The case is dismissed," said the magistrate.

SUTTON
O.H.A. TEAM WILL PLAY IN "B" GROUP

At a public meeting held in the Sutton public library last Thursday evening, it was decided to enter Sutton's O.H.A. team in Intermediate "B" grouping the same as last year. Entering the team in Intermediate "A" company, to play against Newmarket's "A" entry was considered, but was voted down. It was explained that even though Sutton and Newmarket should enter "A" grouping they would still play in "B" group consisting of Bobcaygeon, Cannington, Newmarket, Port Perry and Sutton. It was thought advisable to remain in Intermediate "B" company for this season.

WRIGHTMAN SCORES 4

Aurora's junior hockey squad hiked 60 miles northwards on Thursday night to do battle with a husky group of youngsters of the Penetang-Midland club. They came out of the thrilling, ding-dong fracas with a well-earned 5-4 victory.

That is, they earned a higher score, but Morley White, Midland's spread-eagling net-minder, wouldn't let them have it. He did everything but swallow the puck to hold back the attack that cluttered up the ice in front of him for the greater part of the night.

Not that the Midland team are a bunch of push-overs; far from it. They have a sizeable, fast-skating group of youngsters, and will give Barrie a run for the season is far advanced. At present, however, they are still on the make and their attack lacked the finished passing shown by the locals on Thursday.

Aurora's more experienced forward strings had a field day but their ganging attack left the way open for the Midland opportunists to break away for four clean tallies.

Penetang drew first blood when "Nap" Lalonde took the puck from the mob in front of his own net and tore up the ice to score at the end of five minutes play. "Fat" James went off for charging, closely followed by H. Abbott of the opposition.

Shorty Wrightman, star of the Aurora attack, tied the score ten minutes later. In the second period Wrightman bulged the twine again, and the Penetang goalies was extended to hold off a dozen shots in the next few minutes. Wrightman and Laval Dubau took trips to the cooler for hectic play, after which Shorty, with some help from Bill Wilson, made the score 3-2.

Audie DesRoches and Bruce Manson evened it up for the Penetang-Midland squad early in the third spasm. Then James turned in a tally which was followed by Wrightman's fourth score, made with the assistance of Hugh Mair. With five minutes to go, Harbor, on an assist by Abbott turned in Midland's fourth counter.

Members of the teams taking part in the exhibition game were: Penetang-Midland: goal, M. White; defence, W. Dubau, R. Lalonde; centre, A. DesRoches; wings, T. Ahearn, B. Manson; alternates: H. Abbot, J. Armour, L. Dunklemaier, B. Harbor; S. St. Amant, Joy, J. Valbeau, Laval Dubau.

Aurora: Goal, W. Groves; defence, C. James, A. Boake; centre, Bill Wilson; wings, S. Wrightman, H. Mair alternates, M. Collings; K. Knowles, E. McComb, S. Groskurth, R. Elliott, W. Bernard, B. Carter.

LOCAL BAKER MAKES
HOBBY OF FROG FARM

Aurora has an infant industry on its doorstep. The Era learned from Ernest Fortier, a local baker, on Monday. The industry is that of frog-farming and is a little over two years old. That it is a thriving child is evidenced by the fact that Mr. Fortier expects to have between 25,000 and 30,000 frogs ready for market next year.

Mr. Fortier first became interested in frogs while living in Montreal, and when he moved to Aurora several years ago, he found here the opportunity to make his hobby.

In his attempt to sell his frogs in Toronto this summer he learned that all Toronto wanted was the legs. Inasmuch as Mr. Fortier's frogs tip the scale up to two and one-half pounds, he felt that Toronto should go the whole frog, as it were.

While legs represent the best the frog has to offer, the rest of the body is almost equal in tastiness, Mr. Fortier believes. Frogs' legs are fried, the rest is more at home in the "stew" family, he says.

The solution of his problem, Mr. Fortier told The Era, lies in the canning business. He is now investigating the possibility of canning in Aurora, the legs and the bodies to be canned separately.

Only about ten per cent of wild frogs are breeders, Mr. Fortier says, and it is almost impossible for novices to find them. And in the wild stage only about 30 per cent of the eggs become legs. The rest go to make the menus of birds and snakes.

Cultivated frogs' eggs have a 90 per cent chance of survival. This, and the fact that table frogs are becoming scarce in the vicinity of large cities where they are profitably marketed, are Mr. Fortier's reasons for believing in the future of his frog farm.

At The Era's request, Mr. Fortier has prepared the following draft of information:

Frogs are tailless amphibians, and there are 450 species of them. They start out in life with gills, a tail, and a fish-like blood circulation. From this they change, in mid-stream, to lungs, legs and animal blood circulation. The early, sucker-like mouth of the tadpole changes to a well-developed mouth.

Frogs may be found in the water, in the woods, or solely on land. Ignorance of frog classification often causes people to call them reptiles; others call them fish. Neither is correct.

The frogs in which Mr. Fortier is interested are of course the edible variety. Mr. Fortier knows them well. He spent considerable time in studying them. He expects to make money out of them. So he is not describing them for publication.

The two chief factors in favor of frogs' meat are flavor and digestibility. It contains very little fat or carbohydrates and is therefore different in flavor from other meats. Another important difference is its water content, which is 84 per cent, compared to an approximate 74 per cent in other meat.

Frog meat contains less acid-forming substance than practically any other meat. Its content is 10.36 per cent. Veal, for example, is 13.52; oysters, 30; and beef, 13.91 per cent. For invalids, therefore, frog meat may have a value all its own.

"And now," says Mr. Fortier. "I will tell you how frog meat was discovered. It happened centuries ago in Europe. A monk spied a frog in the clutches of a snake. Curiously, he followed the frog on its way to the pond, and suddenly found it necessary to rescue it from the monastery mascot, a cat."

"What is there about this creature," pondered the monk, "to cause all others to want to destroy it?"

"The monk followed the frog until it had reached the pond. Suddenly the pond broke into many ripples and another and larger frog leapt at it and swallowed it."

"Goodness!" exclaimed the monk. "I was curious when I saw a snake try to eat you. I could scarcely believe my eyes when the cat wanted you too, but now this! Your own parent wants to eat you! It is more than I can stand."

"Whereupon the monk took up both frogs, rushed to the monastery kitchen and a few minutes later, over a plate of browned frogs' legs, he learned why the frog has so many enemies."

Since then, Mr. Fortier says, there have been found over 50 different methods of cooking frogs.

Town Liability Insurance
Placed At Cost Of $1,275

Veterans Aided In Efforts
To Assist Needy At Christmas

After a thorough consideration of all proposals, the town's liability insurance, which has been a matter of debate for some time, should be placed with a tariff company represented by Hugh Bowman, it was decided by the council on Monday.

The premium of $1,275 was the lowest bid submitted. An original bid by another company had been $1,700.

A request was received by the veterans for a grant to cover the cost of Mechanics' hall for their entertainment on Dec. 21, and was approved by the council.

"I think we should know what they do with the money," Councilor John Stuart protested.

"The money is for the needy at Christmas time," the mayor said. "Widows of veterans receive presents."

"It's a very worthy cause," Councilor Lorne C. Lee agreed.

At the suggestion of the board of trade the Aurora council will call a public meeting to be held in Mechanics' hall on Dec. 13, to discuss preparations for the town's jubilee year in 1938.

It is proposed to select a chairman and committee members to take charge of the jubilee activities.

Local Team Gets
Hockey Schedule

Representatives of the various hockey clubs with which Aurora will play this winter met in Toronto on Tuesday night to draw up the schedule for the coming season.

PLAN WHITE GIFTS

Both the United and the Presbyterian churches are holding their annual "white gift" Sunday on Dec. 19.

Y.P. S. HEAR ABOUT
TRIP TO BOMBAY

The Young People's meeting, held in the United church on Monday night, was featured by a lecture given by W. A. Findlay on his trip to Bombay, after which the members joined in a treasure hunt in which articles from various countries were hidden.

The Young People will meet at the church next Monday and visit the Anglican Young People for the evening. Each member is requested to bring a girl's gift, not exceeding 15 cents in value.

ASSISTANT HIRED
IN CLERK'S OFFICE

"A filing cabinet has been purchased for the clerk's office," Councilor Lorne C. Lee, chairman of the finance committee, reported to the council on Monday.

"We have secured an assistant to aid in the filing during the month of December in the person of Keith Davis," he continued.

"When is the auditor coming?" he was asked.

"I think the auditor should be notified to be here right away," Mayor Dr. C. R. Boulding stated. It had been decided, at a previous meeting, to have the auditor supervise the installation of the new filing system.

Children's Hour
Set For Library

Because of the increased juvenile circulation resulting from the new books purchased in co-operation with the public school, library regulations will have to be enforced, it was decided at a meeting of the library board on Monday.

BOYS' GROUP CONTINUES

The boys' study group led by Dr. J. L. Urquhart are carrying on despite lack of a permanent meeting place. The meetings are being held in each of the boys' homes in turn.

Two By-Laws Slated
For Electors' Vote

Decision Asked On Boys' Band Grant And Hydro Renewal

PASS TRANSIENT LAW

The electors of Aurora will be called upon to vote on two by-laws at the annual election to be held on Jan. 3. It was divulged at the council meeting on Monday.

One by-law is to provide $500 in taxes in each of the next three years for maintenance of the boys' band. The other by-law provides for the renewal of the agreement with the Hydro Electric Power Commission, successors to the Toronto and York Radial Co.

A transient traders' by-law, establishing a license fee of $100, was passed by the council with little discussion. The by-law was designed to protect merchants operating permanently in the town and not to keep out new business, it was stated. A penalty of $50 is provided. The regular by-law needed to provide for the election of a mayor, reeve, deputy-revee and five councillors, and for the appointment of poll-clerks and deputy-returning officers, was passed. A grant of $50 for the Central Highway Association was approved.

Mr. Peterson, local baker, had taken up with the mayor the matter of supplying bread for those on relief. Bread had previously been brought in to retail at eight cents a loaf, it was stated.

The local bakeries are now willing to provide bread at this price, Mr. Peterson told the mayor. It will be of better quality than the bread brought from outside, and will differ from the bread regularly sold by these bakeries only in that it is unwrapped, the council was told.

HOLD HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT RITES

The commencement exercises of Aurora high school will be held in the school's assembly hall on Friday. A one act play will follow the presentation of medals and prizes. The high school orchestra will be in attendance.

LOCAL WORKMEN SHOULD BE SUPPORTED

Those on relief must buy their bread from the local bakeries, the council decided.

Accounts passed at the town council meeting on Monday evening were as follows: Aurora Building Co., $48; C. A. Cook, $11.70; Dr. W. J. Stevenson, $3.60; 47; Dr. Williams, $11; Bell Telephone, $20.58; Office Specialty Co., $57.30; Davis Garage, $2.04; J. F. Willis, $1.05; Veterans, $10; Attbridge & Son, $7.91; P. M. Thompson, $53; F. Rowland, $3.50; H. F. Davis, $38; Aurora Hardware, $9.76; James Proctor and Redfern, $200; Frankcomb Garage, $20.78; clerk, postage, $10.60; H. A. Bowman, $25.50; $10.12; J. M. Walton, $10.12; $25.10, $20.20; H. Armitage, $30.20; F. R. Underhill, $105, $176.72; National Iron Corp., $391.19; Canada Valve and Hydrant Co., $70.50; hydro, $2,469.67; pole rental, $214.75; Sangamo Co., $132.71; Ferant Electric, $39.81.

READY FOR WINTER DEPUTY-REEVE REPORTS

"Catch basins have been prepared for the winter and the ditches have been cleaned out," Deputy-Reeve C. A. Malloy, chairman of the roads and bridge committee, told the council on Monday.

Arrival And Departure

"And here's New York," said Mr. Briscoe, at seven o'clock on Saturday morning.

Glancing from my window, I wasn't much impressed — tall, dreary-looking, red brick tenements seemed to stretch in every direction, and there was nothing in the grey, dreary day, to add any beauty to the scene.

But soon we rolled into the Grand Central Station—a red cap was carrying our bags, and Mr. Briscoe was saying, "We'll have breakfast in the Palm Room." Breakfast didn't appeal to me, but the Palm Room did, for beauty and comfort reigned. The pink marble arches, the great palms and the delicious meal, even if one enjoyed by sight more than taste, were restful and refreshing, and a cup of coffee often helps one over hard spots.

"Now we'll take a taxi and you can see a little of the city, for your boat doesn't sail till eleven or thereabouts, and you needn't hurry," said Mr. Briscoe. So we drove about Central Park, and along Fifth Avenue, and viewed some of the great houses, and remembering the slums we had seen before, we wondered a little at the inequality of the distribution of this world's goods.

I got a kink in my neck, which threatened to become permanent, from staring at the Singer Building and Woolworth's. I think those were the worst—the highest, anyway, that I saw—but staring aloft must have done something to me, for when mother suddenly asked me how my throat felt, I had to acknowledge, with more amazement than she felt, that "it's all better!"

And then we were at the wharf, and there lay the "Bermudian." When I had seen pictures of her, she had loomed larger, and I had thought comfortably—"we'll feel nice and safe on her, she's large," and I hoped I was right, for mother had said when I came home with our tickets—"if that ship isn't good and large, I'll have to just come back home, for you know, perfectly well, that I can't bear to be near the water."

But I must say, when I looked at the ship, I hoped mother was too busy looking at other things to examine it very closely, for I felt, I personally, would not have objected if it had been triple its size.

However, it was too late now for fears and when we saw our stateroom, it was a delightful place, all white and crimson, and everything for our comfort assured.

After seeing the purser and getting our seats at table and the deck steward about chairs, we went on deck, and as we were early, had a good chance to study our fellow-passengers.

This was fun, for every variety of humanity seemed to be represented, but the ranks of the newlyweds must have been greatly augmented before this sailing, for there were tall brides and short ones; radiant ones and tearful ones; a bride with a Boston Bull tucked under one arm; a bride attached unalterably to a leash, from which a delightful red spaniel tried in vain to extricate himself.

There were a few unhappy people who were not satisfied with their staterooms; who objected to the place in which the only remaining deck chairs had to be, and who were sure we would have a bad voyage, as the wind was rising steadily, and I, for one, gladly sought the lounge to get away from the heaving mass of water, which we must presently face.

Mother settled herself in an easy chair and began to read, while I, remembering various rash promises, began to write.

From where I sat I faced those heaving mountains of dark grey water—and suddenly I looked wildly round, at all the safe, sane things about me—people reading, people writing and people just sitting comfortably doing nothing—then I glanced out again, yes the seas were like that—one minute I saw a ship, the next I didn't.

I felt premonitory gestures from my interior—and lay back.

forgetting friends, forgetting promises—forgetting everything but the fact that I was at the mercy of that sea.

When luncheon was served we went and took our places and I ordered chicken soup. Why, oh why, didn't I eat a dry biscuit or something! People around were enjoying their meal, but suddenly mother rose from her chair—"where are you going?" quoth I. "Away from here," said she and disappeared majestically in the general direction of our private sanctuary. Giving one more look at that soup, I retired in wild disorder, to discover mother lying with her face to the wall.

"Don't speak to me," said she. "I should have known better than to leave my comfortable home for this."

"Oh well," I consoled her, "there will probably be a submarine about, and that will end our troubles."

"What do I care," said my parent, and we subsided into unhappy silence.

At dinner time the stewardess came in and asked what we would like for dinner. Mother only moaned protestingly and I begged her never to mention food again.

As the night came on, the fog horn lifted up its voice, to be answered by other voices equally strident and menacing, while the water in great seas slapped on the deck above us, and the ship lay on its side and we clung to whatever we could lay hands on. Presently the stewardess came in again, and by that time mother was so ill that I told her to send the doctor.

"There are a couple of hundred calls ahead of you," said she, "even some of the stewardesses are sick, but I'll give the message."

All through the long night the wind howled, the fog horn shrieked, and the steady thump of water over us, made the night hideous.

Just as the doctor came along the passage toward our room, a frantic voice hailed him—"Doctor, oh Doctor, my wife says she is dying!"

"Quite a few people on this ship are wishing it would 'go down,'" said the doctor calmly, "but they'll feel differently when we get into port."

Then he came in and looked at mother, who said disgustedly, "What fools people are who go to sea."

"When did you eat last?" asked the doctor.

"Eat!" said mother—"not since I came on board this torture hole."

"Take this tablet," said he, while mother said firmly, "I couldn't swallow that thing, feeling as I do."

"Oh yes, you can," said the man of medicine, "I'll just wait till you do."

"I thought you had lots of patients," said my usually serene mother—"So I have, but down that tablet has to go." "Look at my daughter!" said mother; he hardly glanced at me, and sensing a foeman not worthy of his steel, he thrust a tablet at me and returned to the fray. "I'll be ten times worse," predicted mother—"No you won't," said the man of pills.

"Just then a summons from a steward, hurried him off, and mother, exhausted, subsided, while I, hating the whole human race, writhed and in whispers told mother what I thought of everyone and everything that had lured us to trust ourselves to the briny deep. No relief came, as through the following day and night we plunged and heaved our way.

On Sunday, I could hear well loved hymns being beautifully played, and I thought how wonderful it would be to be able to get up and listen, "I think I'll order something to eat," I said.

"Well, maybe," said mother doubtfully, as I rang and gave the order.

Presently a tray with some dainty tongue sandwiches and coffee, made its appearance.

Mother gave one look—"oh why . . ." she said and stopped, while I rang in haste and begged the stewardess, "take it away—oh, please hurry," and just then the ship lay flat down and I thought, this is the end, while the poor girl clung to the door with one hand and tried to clutch the tray with the other.

"There are only seven passengers able to go to the table," said she, perhaps thinking there was consolation in numbers, but tomorrow will see us safely in the harbor."

"Maybe," said I, without any hope, but towards morning, the wind went down, and when the pilot came on board, we felt we might live a little longer—next week, please.

She drove up to the oil station and asked the attendant for air for her tires.

"Your tires seem to be upper," the station man said after testing them.

"Maybe they are," she replied,
"but it's six weeks since we had air put in last, and it's bound to be bad by this time. I like fresh air in my tires."

NEWMARKET BOYS
WIN SCHOLARSHIPS

Speaking before county council at their November session,
W. M. Cockburn, Newmarket, agricultural representative for York, made reference to the achievements of the various boys' and girls' clubs organized under his supervision this year.

Speaking of the girls' work, he pointed out that 24 girls in the home, garden and canning club had studied canning and vegetables as well as caring for a complete garden. Local project clubs were organized in different parts of the county in co-operation with the Women's Institutes.

The boys' grain club in the northern part of the county had 26 boys who sowed an acre or more of the choicest of registered oats and barley. The fields were scored and exhibits of grain were shown in October, while the boys also competed in a judging competition and examination.

The Woodbridge boys' calf club, sponsored by the Woodbridge Agricultural Society for boys west of Yonge St., had 19 members, most of whom brought their calves out to Woodbridge Fair. Judging and an examination also featured in this contest. At the Canadian National Exhibition, three calves from this club won first in the inter-county class for a group of three Jerseys, having won first, second and fourth individually and also first for showmanship. Four Holstein calves won second, third, sixth and seventh; and second for group of three calves.

The Markham boys' foal club, sponsored by the Markham Agricultural Society, had 17 members caring for Percheron and Clyde colts which they exhibited at Markham fair. Harvey Cox, of Unionville, exhibiting his foal at the Royal, won first prize after three strenuous hours in the ring with 35 colts from all over the province in the special foal club class. Next day he won eighth on showmanship against the same competitors. Jack Mc-Griskin, of Agincourt, showing in the same class, got seventh on his foal and 13th in showmanship.

During the Royal Winter Fair, the Downtown Kiwanis Club of Toronto entertained the members of the boys' clubs of York and Ontario counties and presented five scholarships of a ten-day short course at the O.A.C. in each county. Hon. P. M. Devan, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, presented the cheques to the York boys as follows: grain club, Neil Faris, Newmarket; high in oat section; Chas. Haines, Newmarket, high in barley section; calf club, Cameron McNeil, Woodbridge, high in Jerseys; Alan Boake, Downsview, high in Holsteins; foal club, George Scott, Agincourt. These boys will attend the short courses at the O.A.C. from Dec. 28 to Jan. 7.

Mr. Cockburn hopes to be able to reorganize these clubs for another year, after which they will probably be rotated to give other boys an opportunity to take advantage of the benefits of this practical form of agricultural education. In this connection, it is interesting to note that the $100 County-Massey Fund scholarship to the O.A.C. was awarded to Norman Bagg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bagg, of Edgeley. Norman was a member of the former Woodbridge calf club and later of the Woodbridge foal club, a member of the provincial contest in 1933 and second in the dominion contest the same year. Last year he won the trip to the Chicago International as high man in the county livestock judging competition.

ZEPHYR
W. M. S. NAME NEW 1938 EXECUTIVE

The Sunday-school scholars of Zephyr United church are busy practising for their Christmas entertainment, which will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 22 in the community hall. A good program is being arranged.

On Friday, Mr. Innis, the arricultural representative of Ontario county, will be the special speaker at the Young People's Society. This meeting is open to all and we expect a large attendance to come and hear this interesting address.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United church was held on Dec. 1 at the home of Mrs. G. Murray. There was a large attendance and the Chris-mas program was much enjoyed.
Reports of the different branches of the work showed a very successful year. When all returns are in the allocation will have been exceeded.

Mrs. John Kennedy, mother of Mrs. Leslie Kennedy, was buried in Quaker Hill cemetery last Thursday. The family have the sympathy of the community in the loss of their mother.

Miss Munroe is having her Christmas tree at her school on the fourth concession on Tuesday, Dec. 21. A good play is being provided for entertainment.

I. B. Law has placed doors fitted with windows along the whole front of his reserve storage, north of his paint shop. A cement approach has been constructed to replace the two wooden bridges. This has greatly increased the appearance of the building and enlarged the storage capacity.

Rev. Mr. Murray is attending Presbyterial in Toronto this week.

Miss Luella Gayman and a friend, of Stouffville, visited her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs.
Thos. Meyers, on Sunday.

Mrs. Wm. Harman of Uxbridge is visiting her daughter, Mrs. A.
R. Armstrong this week.

Keswick

The annual meeting of the W.A. of the United church was held on Thursday afternoon, the officers of 1937 being returned for 1938. A very delicious supper was served from 6 o'clock on, those responsible for it being, Mrs. Angus Cowleson, Mrs.
Charles Willoughby and Mrs.
Carson Pollock, assisted by Mrs.
Robt. Hamilton, Mrs. F. Morton
and Mrs. Freeman Fairbairn.

Mrs. Frank Marritt is in charge of a very interesting program. The theme was "Good Music", the following contributing to the success of the evening:
Rev. C. E. Fockler, Miss M. Fock-ler, Miss M. Willoughby and Mrs.
E. Morton. Recitations were given by Lois Marritt and Betty Fisher.

Rev. Mr. Fockler occupied the pulpit of the United church on Sunday, assisted by Roy Pollock and Miss Fockler, but in spite of a very bad cold, Mr. Fockler preached a very fine sermon. In the evening, Rev. Mr. Littlewood of Uxbridge was guest preacher, preaching a splendid sermon.

The regular Y.P.S. meeting will be held on Friday evening, when it is hoped a good attendance will be present.

There will be a baptism of children next Sunday morning.
In the near future Rev. Mr.
Fockler plans having a reception for new members. If anyone is interested Mr. Fockler will be pleased to discuss the same with them.

Sunday, Dec. 19, will be the Sunday-school anniversary, when Rev. Manson Doyle will be the special preacher at both services. These services will be very interesting and it is hoped many will take advantage of this opportunity to hear Mr. Doyle and also to show their interest in the work of the Sunday-school.

The concert in connection with the anniversary will be held on Monday evening, Dec. 20, when the pageant, "The Light of the World", will be presented. A white gift service will also be held on that night, when all present will be given an opportunity to participate by their gifts in Christmas cheer for the community.

Mr. Judson Cole has just returned from Flint, Mich., where he has been visiting his son, Elmer, who is a police lieutenant in that city, also his brother, Wesley, who is now in his 80's, and Arthur at Brantford, who for years was principal of the school for the blind there.

Mrs. D. C. Grant of Toronto, formerly of Yellow Grass, Sask., spent last week with her sister, Mrs. P. J. Cole. Mrs. Grant, while in the west, helped to unpack the car load of good things from here and take it to the needy.

Sorrow fell over the community on Wednesday when word came of the death of Rev. Mr. Griffin, one who was loved by all who knew him. Mr. Griffin was only a few months in the parish at Roche's Point, but the spirit for good he left behind will not soon be forgotten even by the youngest child.

Miss Daisy Cole has gone to spend the winter with her sister, Mrs. H. Bailey of Flint, Mich.

The Misses Young have been spending holidays in the city.

6TH CON. N. G.
WORKERS FINISH
CHURCH ROOF JOB

There was quite a surprise this Monday morning to find on looking out that trees, shrubs, fences, and even the hydro wires were just hanging with snow, making the scenery very beautiful, and some say "Christmas". And that is not very far away.

Those volunteers who undertook shingling the church at Bethel were a bit held up the fore part of last week owing to so much high wind, but on Thursday it was a lovely bright day, with a good turnout of helpers, and it was completed, the old shingles gathered and piled, and a bee planned for Tuesday, supervised by Mr.
Angus Cameron, to cut wood, for future consumption.

Those who had the privilege of hearing the stranger from India,
(Mr. Rutnam), who accompanied Mr. Butler to the morning service at Bethel met a Christian gentleman some 6 feet in height. While here he had his first sight of snow. Mr. Rutnam is a student at Emmanuel College and is very highly spoken of. He enjoyed the hospitality of friends in the morning at Bethel and in the evening at Egypt. The two students were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Huntley.

Mrs. Jones Sodore, (Sunnyside)
now in the eighties, is making plans to accompany her son and family to Florida for the winter.
Friends of Mrs. Russell Glover extend sympathy to the family in this time of serious illness and also to the family bereft by the death of the late Ralph Draper.

BASELINE N. G.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Powell and family are wished every joy and happiness in their new home in Muskoka.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Graham spent the weekend at the home of Mr. A. Stonehouse.

Miss Bernice Winch was in Toronto on Saturday.

Miss Evelyn Arksey, R.N., of York County Hospital, spent a few hours on Saturday at the home of her parents.

Baseline school will hold their annual Christmas concert and tree on Tuesday evening, Dec. 21.

Mr. B. Johnston spent a few days last week in Toronto.

Mrs. Waller Allen is home again after visiting friends in Toronto.

The opening meeting of the United church Young People's Union on Tuesday evening drew a large crowd to the church hall where the president, Charles Buckley, opened the initial meeting. Despite adverse weather conditions the turn-out was excellent and a good season in this line is anticipated. Conventor Jack Burnham took charge of the meeting, following the official opening, providing a highly entertaining and enjoyable program, which included readings by Rev. N. S. Anderson and himself.

Mrs. L. Pike played several selections on the piano after which Les. Pickles gave an interesting address. Charles Buckley rendered two trombone selections, accompanied at the piano by Barbara Holborn.

CHRISTMAS SPECIALS

This year we present for our Xmas trade, a stock of merchandise SUCH AS WE HAVE NEVER OFFERED BEFORE

Our purchases were made for our New Store at Main and Botsford Sts., which we had planned to occupy about Nov. 30th. Unfortunately, for reasons beyond our control, we are compelled to remain in our present location (one door south of the Era Office) until after the New Year. The result is that we are and being located slightly out of the business section of the town, we are forced to offer "Christmas Specials" in the hope of clearing our great surplus.

CAUGHT WITH TOO MUCH STOCK
